

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Dear Aquinas College Family,

With the 2024–2025 academic year now behind us, we find ourselves in a sacred moment of reflection and renewal; a time to give thanks for all that we have achieved together and to look forward with hope and anticipation to the promise of what lies ahead.

This past year has been one of growth, resilience, and triumph. Our students embraced every challenge, cultivated their talents, and strengthened the values that define our community: faith, scholarship, and service. From academic excellence and athletic achievements to artistic expression and acts of compassion, the year was marked by countless moments that made us proud to call Aquinas College our home.

We owe an enduring debt of gratitude to our teachers and staff, whose dedication, passion, and guidance have shaped not only the minds but the hearts of our students. Your service has left a lasting imprint on the lives you have touched, and your example continues to be a beacon of Catholic education at its finest.

As we celebrate all that was accomplished, we also pause to honor those we lost along the way. We remember with reverence the lives that shaped our school and our Church, including the passing of His Holiness, Pope Francis, on Easter Monday. A shepherd of profound humility and unwavering conviction, Pope Francis reminded us of the transformative power of mercy, the necessity of inclusion, and the enduring relevance of Gospel truth. His legacy will continue to inspire our mission for generations to come.

To our graduates: we send you forth with immense pride and deep confidence. May the formation you received here at Aquinas continue to serve as your compass; guiding your choices, shaping your convictions, and anchoring you in faith as you begin new chapters of learning and leadership.

To the newest members of our community; our incoming students, their families, and new faculty and staff, we welcome you with open arms. You are now part of a tradition that honors both the mind and the soul, where rigorous academics are nurtured alongside personal integrity, spiritual depth, and a commitment to service. We are thrilled to begin this next chapter with you.

As we look ahead to a new academic year, may we carry with us the lessons of the past, the memories of those who walked beside us, and the vision of what is possible when a community lives its mission boldly and faithfully. The future of Aquinas College is bright, illuminated by our shared commitment to Christ, to excellence, and to one another.

Honoring the Class of 2025

It is with immense pride and admiration that we recognize the Class of 2025 - a cohort of 85 exceptional students, comprising 44 females and 41 males; each of whom successfully fulfilled the academic, social, and civic requirements for the conferment of their diplomas.

Among this accomplished group, 69 students graduated with honor roll distinction, representing 81% of the entire class. Of these 69 honor roll graduates, 30 were male students; which means 73% of the male class earned this high academic honor. These figures reflect not only the collective excellence of the class but also the remarkable performance of our male scholars, whose achievements stand as a testament to their dedication and perseverance.

We are especially proud to extend our heartfelt congratulations to Kiel Gequillana, Valedictorian, and Haley Newton, Salutatorian. Their unwavering commitment, resilience, and academic integrity have distinguished them as exemplary leaders among their peers. Their accomplishments, like those of the entire graduating class, reflect the core values and mission of Aquinas College.

The Class of 2025 leaves behind a legacy defined by scholarship, service, and integrity. As they embark on new journeys, we celebrate their accomplishments and look forward with confidence to the meaningful contributions they will continue to make in the world.

Celebrating 135 Years of Catholic Education in The Bahamas

A Legacy of Faith, Excellence & Community

A Legacy of Faith, Excellence & Community

For over a century, Catholic schools in The Bahamas have shaped generations through an unwavering commitment to faith-based education. This year, the Catholic Board of Education (CBOE) joyfully commemorates 135 years of Catholic education, a moment of profound gratitude and recommitment to the mission first entrusted to the Church in 1889.

From Humble Beginnings to National Influence

Catholic education in The Bahamas officially began on October 28, 1889, when five Sisters of Charity from Mount St. Vincent, New York, arrived in Nassau. Within a week, they opened St. Francis School, and by January 1890, the mission had expanded to what is now Xavier's Lower School. The Sisters later established Sacred Heart School, creating vital access for students from more remote communities.

Throughout the 20th century, Catholic schools emerged throughout New Providence and the Family Islands, including Sts. Francis, St. Joseph, St. Anselm's, St. Augustine's College, founded in 1947, and Aquinas College, founded in 1957 - where Excellence is an ingrained Habit. These schools are more than academic institutions; they are communities of formation, empowering students intellectually, morally, and spiritually.

Guided by a Visionary Shepherd: Archbishop Patrick C. Pinder

At the heart of the modern Catholic education movement stands His Grace, Archbishop Patrick C. Pinder, STD, CMG, the first Bahamian-born Archbishop of Nassau and a product of the very system he now shepherds.

Appointed Archbishop in 2004, Archbishop Pinder's leadership has been transformative:

- He has strengthened the Catholic identity of schools while promoting academic rigor and moral formation.
- Under his guidance, the Catholic Board of Education was modernized and professionalized, ensuring sustainability, financial stewardship, and accessibility for all Bahamian families.
- He has championed inclusive education, emphasizing dignity, character, and the holistic development of each student; rich or poor, Catholic or non-Catholic.
- His continued emphasis on social justice, pastoral care, and civic responsibility has shaped CBOE into a moral compass within the national educational landscape.

The Archbishop's presence, advocacy, and steady leadership have inspired generations of students and educators alike. His legacy is not only written in policy but etched into the daily lives of over 3,000 students across the nation who walk through Catholic school doors formed by faith and excellence.

A Living Legacy of Leadership

The 135th anniversary celebration culminated in a joyful Celestial Scavenger Hunt and Block Party hosted at Xavier's Lower School. One of the most poignant moments was the ceremonial cake-cutting by three pillars of Catholic education, seen in the photograph above:

Sister Mary Benedict Pratt, OSB - A trailblazer who led the system as Superintendent during a critical era of growth; she championed Catholic formation with a Benedictine spirit of discipline, prayer, and scholarship.

Mrs. Claudette Rolle - First lay Director of Catholic Education (2004–2023), credited for right-sizing and professionalizing CBOE's operations while advocating for quality, equity, and teacher development.

Dr. Alexandria Roberts-Bowe - Current Director of Catholic Education, appointed in 2023. With over 30 years of experience, she brings dynamic vision to curriculum innovation, leadership formation, and student achievement.

Together, these women represent over 75 years of combined leadership, vision, and service to Bahamian youth through the mission of the Church.

Forward in Faith

The theme of the anniversary “Faith in Action: Excellence for All”, reminds us that our mission is ongoing. Under the visionary leadership of Dr. Roberts-Bowe and with the enduring support of Archbishop Pinder, the Catholic Board of Education remains dedicated to:

- * Curriculum Advancement – including STEAM, digital learning, and Catholic social teaching.
- * Student Accessibility – through scholarships and tuition aid.
- * Formation & Community Engagement – cultivating students who are not only knowledgeable, but compassionate, responsible, and faith-filled.

As we celebrate the past and embrace the future, we echo the words of Christ: “Let the children come to me.” May our schools always be sanctuaries of learning, compassion, and Christ-centered excellence—for the next 135 years and beyond.

Happy 135th Anniversary to the Catholic Board of Education!
To God be the Glory.

Congratulations to the Aquinas College Aces who successfully achieved Green Flag Accreditation on May 15th, 2025. We commend you for your hard work and dedication to environmental best practices!

The Green Flag recognizes schools that have achieved an international standard of excellence in environmental education and practice

The Eco-Schools Programme is a student led programme that was developed by the Foundation for Environmental Education (FEE) in 1994. BREEF is the official FEE representative for The Bahamas and the National Operator for the Eco-Schools Bahamas Programme.

As a Green Flag school Aquinas College joins The Bahamas Reef Environmental Educational Foundation's (BREEF) Eco-Schools local network, which includes its sister school Mary Star of the Sea Catholic Academy (MSSCA).

The Green Flag status highlights Aquinas' commitment to sustainable development and global citizenship.

The road to attaining Aquinas College's Green Flag status involved the entire Aquinas College family and was student led.

A Grateful Farewell to Our Esteemed Colleagues

The Aquinas College family express our heartfelt gratitude to Nurse Joan Cates, Mr. Ireneo Ajero, and Mr. Ronald Boodoo for their many years of faithful and dedicated service to Catholic education.

These three remarkable individuals are retiring after 37, 22, and 24 years of service, respectively. Their commitment to nurturing and educating generations of students has left an indelible mark on our community.

We will miss them deeply and extend our warmest wishes for many days of peace, joy, and well-deserved relaxation in the years ahead.

Nurse. Cates, Mr. Ajero, and Mr. Boodoo, thank you for your unwavering devotion and tireless efforts. May your retirement be filled with blessings, good health, and continued happiness.

Dellon Evans witnesses the fruit of his labor

On any given day, Aquinas College officials said Dellon Evans could be seen on campus dashing purposefully from task to task. They said it was not a surprise for them to see him right at a toppled recycle bin and that he would be the first to jump in to pick up cans. He is pictured chatting with 11th-grade student, Asher Fawkes, on the importance of recycling.

It was September 2019, when a then-11-year-old Dellon Evans visited his high school principal's office seeking permission to address the student body on environmental issues. That occasion was also Aquinas College principal Shona Knowles' introduction to the preteen. She was "stunned that such a young student was so interested in the environment." She decided to give Dellon the opportunity to address the student body, as being environmentally conscious was one of the tenants of a Catholic school graduate. "Little Mr. Evans got onto the stage and demanded the attention of the almost 550 persons in Loyola Hall," Knowles recalled. "I was impressed not only with the fact that he was able to command the attention of all those present, but also of his wealth of knowledge about the environment and the way he pleaded with our students to consider becoming environmental stewards. As a result, a seed was planted and the Aquinas College Environmental Eco Club was born."

Aquinas College creates Shona M. Knowles Exemplary Ace Award, which encapsulates graduating senior's accomplishments beyond the classroom; school earns Green Flag

Six years on, Dellon, 18, also vividly remembers shoring up his gumption as a seventh-grade student to approach his principal.

"I remember it vividly. It all started when news of the Australian bushfires broke. A week prior, I joined the environmental club and I had an idea to bring awareness to the school community on the issue of climate change. Figuring that Mass was the perfect opportunity, I wrote up a speech, had it proofed and went to Mrs. Knowles to ask if I could get a few moments at the end of our next Mass. I'm not exactly sure what I was thinking as a young seventh-grader planning to address 500-plus staff and students, aside from there's an issue and I must do something about it."

Dellon said as he climbed the steps to the podium, he felt his knees buckle under him. But that once he began speaking, he said the fear left, and he was "on fire."

After that speech, he said he remembers being asked about climate change by his peers who became aware of Dellon Evans, 18, Aquinas College's head boy and president of the school's environmental club, chats with Crystal Darling Sargent, Bahamas Reef Environment Educational Foundation (BREEF) communications officer, center, and Nicola Fernandez, Eco-Schools Bahamas national operator/environmental education coordinator.

Dellon Evans, in the trenches, shows his peers how to clean and line the pond at Aquinas College.

Dellon Evans, 18, Aquinas College's head boy and president of the school's environmental club, was able to witness Aquinas College receive its Green Eco Flag on May 15, prior to graduating on June 12, 2025. School principal Shona Knowles, right, front, said they owe their Green Flag accomplishment to Evans.

Jaliah Nairn's Senior Dance Debut

GrandBahama242News's post

Jaliah Nairn recently captured international attention at this year's StarQuest Dance Competition in Galveston, Texas. Competing as a Just Dance Bahamas company member, the 15-year-old placed fourteenth out of nearly one hundred soloists in the senior category. This marked her debut in that division, where she stood out despite competing against significantly older and more seasoned dancers.

Jaliah's participation was made possible with the support of Consolidated Water (Bahamas) Ltd. (CWCO). The water supplier proudly contributed to her travel and competition expenses for the event, which is more than just a contest. Beyond the stage, dancers participate in daily workshops led by industry veterans and engage in immersive training experiences.

CWCO's General Manager, Henderson Cash, said, "Jaliah's achievement speaks volumes about her dedication and potential. We are proud to support her and other young Bahamians as they pursue excellence and make their mark internationally."
